ANNOTATIONS TO THE ARTICLES

Asotskyy V.V.
DETERMINING THE IMPORTANCE OF BASIC PROFESSIONALLY IMPORTANT QUALITIES OF THE TEAM'S CHIEFS OF OPERATIONAL RESCUE SERVICE OF CIVIL PROTECTION OF THE STATE EMERGENCIES SERVICE OF UKRAINE

The article reflects the specific features of professional activity of Team's Chiefs of Operational Rescue Service of Civil Protection of the State Emergencies Service of Ukraine. Indicated that professional activities of the specialist of Operational Rescue Service of Civil Protection of the State Emergencies Service of Ukraine is greatly influenced by the presence of a certain important professional skills, knowledge and abilities during operations in emergency situations. AS well as evaluated expressiveness of professionally important qualities of the Teams' Chiefs of Operational Rescue Service of Civil Protection of the State Emergencies Service of Ukraine.

Keywords: Team's Chief of Operational Rescue Service of Civil Protection of the State Emergencies Service of Ukraine, profession, professionally important qualities.

Afanasyeva N.E.
MODELS AND METHODS FOR INTERNET CONSULTING EXPERTS EXTREME ACTIVITY

The article analyzed the possibility of virtual psychological services based on the use of the Internet (in the form of psychological portal) as a tool for organizing joint activities of psychologists and potential customers. Distance psychological care is a type of system when providing psychological services and the act psychologist and client interaction mediated by some technical means, such as Internet environment. Identified and analyzed the specificity of such works, its advantages and disadvantages. For specialists extreme activities it can sometimes be the only way to get emergency psychological care.

Keywords: online counseling, distance psychological care, client, consultant specialists extreme activities.

Borisova N.P.
SUPERSTITION REPRESENTATIVES EXTREME PROFESSIONS

The article describes the features of professional representatives superstitions extreme professions whose professional activity involves risk to life and health. The features of the stress factors that affect the representatives of these professions. The causes of occupational superstition among representatives of extreme professions, examines the meaning and function of superstition to overcome stress situations arising in the course of performing assigned tasks. A comparison of professional representatives of various superstitions extreme professions.

Keywords: superstition, extreme profile of the profession, psychological defense, kvaziresurs, coping behavior, the integrity of the individual.

Borovenska T.A.
FEATURES OCCUPATIONAL STRESS AMONG EMPLOYEES DSNS UKRAINE

The paper presents an analysis of different approaches to determining occupational stress, revealed major methodological principles, the principles and mechanisms of occupational stress, its place and role in psychological science and practice.

Keywords: professional stress, profession.

Borschyk V.Y., Perelygin L.A
SOCIO-PSYCHOLOGICAL TRAINING TO WORK WITH EXPERIENCES EMERGENCIES POPULATION UKRAINE

In this paper an analysis of scientific approaches to learning experiences that occur in humans as a result of action of emergency and proposed one method of providing psychological help to people who need it – the socio-psychological training to work with experiences of emergency.

Keywords: emotions, emergency, social and psychological training.

Brotsylo O.Y.
THE PSYCHOLOGICAL FEATURES OF ADAPTATION PROCESS OF SSES SPECIALISTS DURING POST CHANGES

Review of adaptation approaches of specialists in extreme professions is conducted in the article. The concepts and mechanisms of post changes in professional activity are considered. The role of post changes in the professional activity of specialists who work in the State Service of Extraordinary Situations (SSES) is defined. The empirical research results of adaptation features of SSES workers during different post changes are indicated. The brief analysis of adaptation and personal traits of SSES workers during post changes is conducted.

Keywords: psychological features, professional activity, adaptation, professional adaptation, post changes, the State Service of Extraordinary Situations workers.

Vasishev V.S.
PSYCHOLOGICAL COMPONENTS OF QUALITY OF MATRIMONIAL MUTUAL RELATIONS OF OFFICERS OF INTERNAL TROOPS

To the article the analysis of the different going is driven near determination of essence of matrimonial mutual relations, disclosed the basic quality component of matrimonial mutual relations and the brought results over of theoretical and empiric research to determining the weight of influence each the component on quality of matrimonial mutual relations.

Keyword:) matrimonial mutual relations, component of quality of matrimonial mutual relations, weight of influence.

Vaskova O.A.

PSYCHOLOGICAL TRAINING FUTURE WORKERS FIRE DSNS TO WORK ON RISK TO LIFE

The paper presents an analysis of approaches to define the essence of psychological training of future employees DSNS and willingness to take risks, revealed major methodological principles, the principles and mechanisms of psychological preparation, its place and role in psychological science and practice, which have a direct and indirect impact on professional identity formation;

Keywords: psychological preparation, emergency, professional activities, risk.

Vakhnina V.

PSYCHOLOGY OF CRISIS MANAGEMENT NEGOTIATING ACTIVITIES OF POLICE, INTERNAL TROOPS SERVICEMEN

The article author examines the issue of crisis management and negotiating activities of police officers in cases of hostage-taking. Discusses prevention and crisis management negotiating activities of internal affairs bodies, which include the study of peculiarities of crisis negotiation activities in various criminal situations, new models, new adaptations, formation of negotiating competence (qualification) and ATS staff readiness, which will ensure the effective use of positive settlement of crisis situations.

Provision is types of crisis negotiation in criminal cases: highlights common crises and local crises, which can act as a pre-requisite or general crisis, crisis in relations. The author examines the crisis of identity and the means of settlement. Stand out features of vocational and psychological training of personnel carrying out the negotiation process.

Keywords: negotiating activities; crisis situations; crisis negotiation; types of crises; crisis state; crime situation; the subjects of the negotiation process; extreme conditions.

Gryschenko M.V.

THEORETICAL PROBLEMS PERSONAL FULFILLMENT RYZYKONEBEZPECHNYH PROFESSIONS

In this work basic theoretical approaches for definition of the concept of “self-realization” of personality of dangerous professions both separately and in generally psychological context are analyzed. The subjective filling of the given concept is also considered in the context of its gradual historical understanding.

Keywords: self-realization, personality, dangerous professions, professional activities.

Kovalhyk A.P.

EMPIRIC RESEARCH OF PROFESSIONAL MOTIVATION OF SERVICEMEN

The article deals with the results of empiric research of dominant reasons and aims of professional activity of servicemen, and also terms and methods of their realization. On the basis of the structured equipping with modern amenities of incentive forces internal motives which determine the orientation of activity of officers in a professional conduct and adjusting of objectively existent circumstances and situations of professional activity are set. The most substantial intercommunications of professional motivation are exposed with efficiency of activity and personality descriptions of officers. Their role is investigational in forming of motivational factors of professional activity. Information is got show that motivation of officers will be predetermined the synthesis of possibilities, capabilities and them professional activity, and also by the requirements of activity coming from its maintenance, features and terms of implementation.

Key words: motivation, motive, personality properties of serviceman, professional activity in the special terms.

Kolosovich O.S.

THEORETICAL AND METHODOLOGICAL ASPECTS OF THE STUDY OF INTERACTION IN THE PROFESSIONAL SPHERE

The article examines the theoretical aspects of interaction to specify its understanding at the present stage, which helped identify key components of professional interaction. Relevance of the study is the humanization and democratization of society, the present conditions of economic development necessitates transition styles of relationships between employees on the new rails. Finding common ground in addressing urgent operational, social and personal problems is only possible when moving from position "I" position to the "we" that is based on the use of the most effective tactics for interpersonal interaction – Dialogue, partnership, contract, cooperation, encompassing all areas communication, professional and consist of business and personal relationships. This is the criterion for qualification and compete in today's labor market and professional groups in occupations related to a group "man – a man." A competent, competitive team reflects its ability to build a complex system of professional and personal contacts, focus on teamwork minded, improving various business cooperation for joint decision-making most productive.
Social interaction is the process of satisfying the needs of two or more active individuals, as evidenced through their interest in interpersonal contacts between them through the action of motivational, emotional, cognitive factors result in cooperation or competition. Therefore, the process is basically a motivational framework that defines all other aspects of social interaction, as clearly traced attempt to satisfy their own needs participant interaction. Her main condition is the prospect of effective component, namely the prediction of personality getting something for yourself. Professional interaction is a process that is a major component of social interaction, a feature which appears to satisfy the needs, which has a specific focus – addressing the challenges posed by the profession, which directed activity of the individual as an interactive part of her psyche.

Keywords: social interaction, professional interaction, factors of interactions.

Krasnokutskiy M.I

MODEL CHARACTERISTICS AND SPORTING SIGNIFICANT QUALITIES IN THE TYPES OF FIRE AND APPLIED SPORT

The article highlights the results of the research to identify key model characteristics in fire-applied sports. Identified indicators severity of psychological properties required for high achievements in fire-applied sports. Also identified as a significant sports team for species interactions in fire-applied sports. These characteristics of individual psychological characteristics of athletes fire and applied with different sports sports experience and qualifications.

Keywords: model characteristics, severity of psychological characteristics, sports and significant quality athletes fire and applied sports.

Kryvorotko G.S.

PSYCHOLOGICAL TRAINING OF THE PREVENTION AND CORRECTION OF LONELINESS AND SOCIAL DEPRIVATION OF SEAFARERS LONG VOYAGES.

This article analyzes the psychological nature and determinants of loneliness seafarers at work in special circumstances and rationale of psychological training on the psychological prevention and correction of loneliness and social deprivation. The results of an empirical study of the psychological characteristics of the experience of loneliness seafarers long voyage. Found that feelings of loneliness sailors due to personal characteristics and level of burnout. The proposed training consists of four modules, developing self-reflection, communication skills, self-regulation and motivational sphere seafarers.

Keywords: loneliness, psychological prophylaxis, psychological training, seafarers long voyage, professional burnout.
Krutolevich A.N., Selitskaya Y.Y.

THE ANALYSIS OF THE MAIN PREDICTOR-FACTORS IN THE CONTEXT OF INTERPERSONAL-SOCIOCOGNITIVE MODEL OF POSTTRAUMATIC STRESS DISORDER

As part of the research study was an assessment of the level of secondary traumatization of rescue workers and considered the influence of interpersonal-sociocognitive factors in the development of secondary traumatization of this contingent.

Constant confrontation with traumatic events is for rescue workers (emergency medical workers and professional firefighters) an extreme aggravating factor. The level of secondary traumatization rescue workers at the time of the study was 13.1%, thus, the level of secondary traumatization among rescue workers close to the world average. In the context of interpersonal-sociocognitive model of posttraumatic stress disorder conducted a correlation and regression analysis of the main predictor-factors for secondary traumatization, such as «social acknowledgment», «disclosure». Social-interpersonal factors explained together of up to 40% of the variance for secondary traumatization.

Keywords: secondary traumatization, rescue workers, prevalence, predictor-factors, correlation and regression analysis, interpersonal-sociocognitive model of PTSD.

Kycherenko N.S.

SOME APPROACHES TO PSYCHOLOGICAL ENSURE THE SUCCESS OF SERVICE-COMBAT ACTIVITIES OF FUTURE OFFICERS INTERIOR MINISTRY UKRAINE

The paper presents an analysis of different approaches to psychological support professional servicemen of internal troops of Ministry of Ukraine revealed their basic methodological principles and principles.

Keywords: psychological support, profession, work on special conditions.

Kucherenko S.M.

EMOTIONAL SUSTAINABILITY AS ONE FACTOR IN ENSURING THE SUCCESS OF THE SPECIAL CONDITIONS

The article discusses features of emotional states of professionals who operate in specific terms disclosed theoretical and methodological background research problem clarifies the basic concepts, discusses the results of specific theoretical and empirical studies of emotional states and factors of regulation.

Keywords: emotional state, modality, emotional stability, regulation, professional activity.
Lamash I.V., Selyukova T.V.
PSYCHOLOGICAL CHARACTERISTICS OF EMPLOYEES DSNSU WITH DIFFERENT LEVELS OF TOLERANCE UNCERTAINTY
The article reflects the psychological characteristics of employees of MES in particular psychological characteristics Emergency workers with different levels of tolerance for uncertainty.

Keywords: tolerance for ambiguity, self-style behavior, desire for stimulation of conduct, professional civil protection experts, professionally important qualities.

Mazorenko M.O.
IMAGE AS A PHENOMENON OF THE PROFESSIONAL CULTURE
In article image is taken in close connection with professionalism, status and place of image in professional culture are identified, it is performed as a phenomenon of the professional culture, which reflects the process of incorporating human to professional formation, connections of image and professional culture is designated, status of image is revealed in common space of culture.

Keywords: image, professionalism, professional culture, reputation.

Myronets S.M.
PSYCHOLOGICAL FEATURES OF COMMUNICATION BARRIERS IN LIFEGUARD INTERNATIONAL HUMANITARIAN MISSIONS
Generalized and systematized modern approaches to the problem of overcoming communication barriers among experts of international humanitarian missions, their proposed classification and identified some ways to overcome them effectively in professional roles.

Keywords. Communication barriers, psychological barriers, psychological support activities, an international humanitarian mission.

Mykhailyshyn U.B.
FEATURES OF ANXIETY MINORS DELINKVENTIV
The article presents theoretical analysis of different point of views on the nature of anxiety. There were considered structure and level of anxiety juvenile delinquents compare to law-abiding teenagers.

Keywords: juvenile delinquent, teenager, school anxiety, self-assessment anxiety, interpersonal anxiety, general anxiety, fear.

Perelygin L.A., Sytnyk M.Y.
OCCUPATIONAL STRESS FIRE-RESCUERS AND MEDICAL WORKERS IN EXTREME CONDITIONS ACTIVITIES
The paper presents an analysis of theoretical approaches to the problem of occupational stress in the presence of rescuers and medical workers, which is associated with professional activities in extreme conditions. Convincingly proved that the profession of fire-rescue and medical workers are among the most complex and intense. Staff of these professions are constantly exposed to stress factors and encroachment on personal resources stress.

Keywords: stress, occupational stress, extreme conditions, stress, professional exclusion.

Polyakov, I.O., Pobidash A.Y.

SETTING PSYCHOLOGICAL CONTACT WITH VICTIMS DURING RESCUE WORK

The article deals with the concept of psychological contact as a form of interpersonal interaction between rescuers and victims in the outbreak of an emergency. A classification of emergencies on the basis of the speed of events, namely: static (localized) and dynamic (eg, developing countries). The features of the algorithm of establishing mental contact and further interaction between rescuers and victims in emergency situations, given their nature, and are of practical recommendations for rescuers.

Keywords: psychological contact, psychological care, interpersonal interaction, rescue, emergency, rescue.

Starik V.A.

SANOHENNOHO OF THINKING AS A CONDITION RESCUERS IN MAINTAINING THEIR HEALTH PROFESSIONAL

The article deals with theoretical and methodological principles of formation sanohennoho thinking professionals rescue fire units Ukraine. Analyzed the specific characteristics of pathogenic and sanohennnoho thinking characteristic of rescuers. Certain areas of thinking in shaping health professionals provide the latest reliable moral and ethical functioning in the performance of tasks.

Keywords: pathogenic thinking sanohenne thinking professionals rescue fire units Ukraine.

Sergienko N.P.

TOLERANCE AS A FORM COMMUNICATION SKILLS OF FUTURE PSYCHOLOGISTS

The article is devoted to the psychological analysis of various scientific approaches to the concept of «tolerance» disclosure of its particular importance for future psychologists. The paper presents the results of the features of tolerance and communication skills of students and the students – future psychologists.

Keywords: tolerance, communication settings, cadets and students.
Ushakova I.M., Kovalevskaya O.A.

DYNAMICS OF MOTIVATION OF PROFESSIONAL FUTURE POLICE OFFICERS

The paper presents an analysis of the dynamics of professional motivation for future police officers during their training, which can provide a number of psychological characteristics that make a direct and indirect impact on professional identity formation; listed features professional motivation to reveal their characteristics at different stages of professionalization (learning in higher education institution).

Keywords: motivation, motivation, police, professional activity.

Khvorost M.Y., Linnik V.

GROUP COHESION DEVELOPMENT AS A SUCCESSFUL TEAM INTERACTION RESCUERS

The article analyzes the problems of socio-psychological climate and group cohesion rescuers. It is shown that the use of special formative influence, namely training, group cohesion is formed more rapidly and significantly improving social and psychological climate group. Training creates internal and external conditions to improve the cohesion and influence to improve the socio-psychological climate of the parameters: the desire to preserve the integrity of group cohesion, kontaktnist and openness.

Keywords: social and psychological climate group, group cohesion, team interaction.

Togobytska V.D.

PECULIARITIES OF PROFESSIONAL SELECTION OF EXTREME SPECIALIZATIONS AND A PROBLEM OF ITS EFFECTIVENESS

In the article the analyze of firemen-rescuers of Ukrainian MOE` psychological selection, analyze of legislative base, which regulates it, are held, the comparative analyze of the methods recommended is represented.

Key words: psychological selection, professional fitness, professional selection.

Tsytsey R.M.

PSYCHOLOGICAL TRAUMA EXPERIENCED BY A PERSON CONSEQUENTIAL EMERGENCY SITUATIONS

The article presents views on the nature of trauma personality who survived extreme events and became a traumatic experience. The main factors of psychological trauma is a major characteristic of its consequences.

Keywords: trauma, emergency.
Shvalb A.U.

COMPREHENSIVE TRAINING PSYCHOLOGICAL PREPARATION TO CIVILIAN POPULATION Efficient behavior in crisis situations

The problem of creating the training aimed at the psychological preparation of the civilian population to make effective behavior in crisis situations of various types.

Keywords: training, self-control, modeling situations, coping strategy.

---

Shevchenko R.P.

This article sheds some light on the dependence of patients' experiencing of personal and situational anxiety on his age category during the treatment of neurotic and psychosomatic abnormalities found in the military and armed forces of Ukraine. Specific reactions that occur under personal and situational anxiety in selected clinical groups are schematically reflected in the article.

Keywords: personal anxiety, situational anxiety, stressor, psychophysiological connections, psychosomatic deviation, psychosocial maladjustment, medical-psychological adjustment.